peaker Douglass of the Constitutional House Briefly Seviews the Situation at Topeka.

Honorable George L. Douglass, speaker of the constitutional house of representatives of the state arrived in the city last night and is spending Sunday at the residence of his neighbor and friend N. C. Knight of North Lawrence avenue. Mr. Douglass felt in splendid humor and seems to be as happy as a schoolboy after passing good examination and going to the head of his class. Physically he says he is well, although traces of three hard nights of bivouacking in the state house and an irregular attendance at the dining table, could be seen on his face, notwithstanding the fact that he was then after having a good old fashloned Wichita square meal of "The struggle," said he, "of last week is now happily over. It arose from an attempt of the Populists to exclude the constitutional house from the hall of representatives. It was understood that Governor Lewelling agreed to back them up in this effort and he and Adjutant General Artz, I presume, making o arranged the details. The result is known and needs no comment from me. The district court of Shawnee county in the injunction suit has decided that the appropriation bill passed by the 'Dunsmore house' is not a law for the reason that that body is not the house of representatives. On Tuesday next the supreme court will have before it the habeas corpus case of L. C. Gunn, who was subpoensed as a witness before the elections committee of the house of representatives and refused to come. He was arrested by our sergeant-at-arms on a warrant issued by myself as speaker for contempt of the bouse in his failure to appear as a witness and appealed to the supreme court for a writ of habeas corpus.
